PROFILE

I have recently graduated from the University of Bristol with a degree in Economics (BSc). I possess a strong foundation in quantitative and qualitative analysis, a passion for collaborative work, and an intuition for open communication and building relationships. I am eager to leverage my skills and gain new experiences, strategising and solving complex problems, in the field of consulting.

AREAS OF EXPERTISE

Data Science

Able to process and handle data, create statistical models, and work with software including Excel, Python, R, SQL, Vega and Stata.

Economic Models

Strong understanding of Macro and Micro economic models and experience with game theory. Able to quickly understand models and effectively communicate graphical information.

Statistics

Adept in statistical analysis, having studied econometrics for three years. Achieved 86% in Econometrics 2 module.

Communicating

Able to communicate complex data and theories clearly and without the use of unnecessary jargon, a skill honed whilst completing a module focused around communicating technical economic material to a diverse audience.

RELEVANT EXPERIENCE

Buttermere Capital

2020

Two week work experience at a long only equity hedge fund. Analysed and presented stock ideas to the portfolio manager. Cleaned and processed transaction data. Researched micro-cap companies, reading financial statements.

Customer Service:

I supported my studies by working in various customer service roles. These developed my interpersonal skills and adeptness in building strong customer relationships.
